Here's how to clear the air — and save!

Choose ENERGY STAR® air purifiers to improve your indoor air quality and deliver savings on energy bills without sacrificing performance, features or comfort.

Indoor air contains pollutants that can affect human health. Some of these pollutants come from outdoors, and others come from indoor sources and activities, such as cooking, cleaning, secondhand smoke, building materials, consumer products, and home furnishings. Protect your home's air quality with a room air purifier. Room air purifiers also remove dust and pollen that may be related to allergies.
